Edmonton Sends Victory Loan Well Over Top

Winding up the drive with a bundle of sales totalling $595,000 for Saturday, campaigners in Edmonton's third Victory Loan drive boosted the total for the city to $6,850,000 to exceed the last loan total by $560,700.

This places the city total at 125.5 per cent of the $5,460,000 quota set by the National War Finance Committee at Ottawa prior to the opening of the campaign.

Total subscriptions of the three Victory Loans held to date in Edmonton are:

First, June, 1941 — $2,503,100
Second, February, 1942 — $4,888,250
Third, incomplete — $6,850,000
These 58 rural units of Northern Alberta made a substantial start Saturday with another 11 going over the top on that day to bring to 25 the number of units that have exceeded their quotas.

Returns from some of the units are far from complete and campaign officials expect that many more will have exceeded their quotas by the time business is wound up.

OUTSTANDING GAIN

Most outstanding gain made Saturday came from the Glendonald unit which was at the very bottom of the list for two weeks of the campaign. On Saturday the unit leaped from bottom place to a position.

CAIRO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Remnants of Marshal Rommel's fleeing Africa corps shook loose from the advancing British 8th Army today and plunged across the Egyptian border into Libya in the vicinity of Halfaya (Helfia). Panzer's heavy British and Allied air bombardment which made that route nearly impassable.

British advance forces which had been making a desperate effort to catch the back-peddling enemy plunged into Libya only a few hours behind the new Axis troops. The situation in Halfaya Pass at 11:00 a.m. was described as "confusing."

British troops were in close pursuit of the latter German and Italian, and British and Allied pilots were keeping up their relentless pounding of the enemy.

By LEON KAY
CAIRO, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—A Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken army, broken in Libya today in its flight from complete destruction and the British believed he might try to rally his remaining forces of 25,000 to 30,000 men—there for a stand.

The battle of Egypt, a complete and smashing success for the Allies, was over. Rommel, who had started with 100,000 men, had less than one-fifth left, and even those were disintegrating as they fled into Libya.

Thirty thousand to 40,000 of his men were prisoners. Other thousands were killed or wounded, six divisions of Italians, approximately 70,000 men, were ready to be captured. The Allies had destroyed at least 500 of his tanks and 900 to 1,000 of his trucks.

MAY TRY EVACUATION
(Swedish military experts believed that Rommel would hastily attempt to evacuate the remnants of his army to Egypt.)

Rommel's hope of escaping disaster have been dashed. American landings in North Africa, these experts said, and he realized that unless he tried to escape to Europe soon, the Eighth Army will be so close upon him there will be a German-Italian Dunkirk.

French Fleet Suffers Heavy Battle Damage

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON
LONDON, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—French warships suffered heavy losses in a violent battle with Allied naval units off Casablanca yesterday, the French news agency, Havas, said today.

Allied warships also bombarded the port of Casablanca, a German official said today. Several other Vichy reports told of severe dive-bomber raids on the city which the planes apparently carried based, were identified as some of the Vichy radio units.

The official German news agency reported that a formidable French naval fleet based at Toulon, including three battleships, was awaiting orders to steam into the Mediterranean bearing the powerful German fleet.

Fighting in Progress Close to Casablanca, Vichy Radio Admits

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Fighting is in progress only four miles east of Casablanca, the Vichy radio said in a broadcast heard here tonight by Reuters. The town was reported attacked by three columns of Americans, each at least a battalion strong, supported by tanks. The broadcast said they came from the direction of Fedhala, which is northeast of Casablanca.

Axis Dive-Bombers Attack Ships

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Vichy reported tonight that Axis dive-bombers had entered the battle of North Africa and that French colonial forces were being strengthened on the Atlantic coast but the United States expedition was putting thousands of men on the beaches and pressing in on the key strongholds of Vichy's African Empire.

The Vichy radio said Nazi Stukas attacked six American troopships in the harbor of Algiers early this afternoon but United States and British forces were putting up a hot screen of anti-aircraft fire from ship and shore batteries.

Vichy Assumes Darlan Prisoner

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Nov. 9.—(AP)—German dispatches from Vichy today said "it is assumed here with increasing probability Monday morning that both Admiral Darlan and Gen. Juin have been taken prisoner" in North Africa.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—The newspaper Aftonbladet reported today that the French navy is making feverish preparations for an attack on the American-British naval fleet in the Mediterranean. These reports say that the French warships were being prepared for action as rapidly as possible at the big South French naval base of Toulon.

TANGIER, Morocco, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Morocco radio said today that the Sultan of Morocco had broadcast a message to the Moslem population asking for loyalty to the Vichy government and help in defence of the territory.

By SANDOR KLEIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—The White House disclosed today that President Roosevelt has notified Tunisian authorities of Allied intentions to cross their territory in an effort to destroy the backbone of Axis resistance in North Africa.

The White House disclosure apparently meant that American forces (reported by Vichy radio to have landed in Algeria within 60 miles of Tunisia) intended to drive eastward to help the British trap the remnants of Rommel's forces in Tripolitania and Libya.

The President, the White House said, sent messages Saturday night to Admiral Jean Pierre Estève, the resident general at Tunis, and Si Moez Pacha, the Bey of Tunis. The messages were sent at the same time the President notified France, Spain and Portugal of the American invasion of French North Africa.

Plan North Destruction of Enemy

In his message to the Bey of Tunis Mr. Roosevelt said "the indomitable and massive armed forces which I am dispatching to North Africa in collaboration with the forces of France, will co-operate with you in the defence of your country. They have no other aim than the early destruction of our common enemies."

They and their Allies hope for the great privilege of passing through Tunisia, thus enabling them to accomplish their mission—the elimination of the forces of evil from North Africa."

Tunisia is a narrow French protectorate lying between Algeria, where American forces have made two landings on the Mediterranean coast, and Italian Tripolitania and Libya.

War Moves

By EDWARD BEATTIE
LONDON, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—The American forces in Africa moved up Algeria today and drove east toward the Tunisian frontier with powerful reinforcements streaming ashore at the Algerian and Moroccan bridgeheads already firmly in U.S. control.

American forces, according to Vichy reports, swarmed ashore at Philippeville, only 100 miles west of Tunisia, and other unconfirmed reports said there had been landings within 60 miles of Tunisia which is the backbone to the Axis positions in Tripolitania.

Fanning out westward from Algiers, U.S. forces were closing in on Oran which appeared to be the scene of some of the most severe action on the North African coast.

Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been head of U.S. Army forces in the European theatre, is supreme commander of Allied-landed attack on French Africa.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—The offensive also might reach an important part of the French fleet in African ports or at least remove the possibility that the ships will be turned over to the Axis.

May Go Over To Allied Side

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
LONDON, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—Speculation arose in some quarters today that Admiral Jean Francois Darlan may have a strong possibility of coming under consideration to come over to the Allied side.

Darlan, commander-in-chief of all Vichy French armed forces, was at Algiers when the American attack was launched and the Axis radio suggested he may have been captured there with Gen. Alphonse Pierre Juin, the French army commander.

There has been no statement on whether Darlan's capture would be announced by the Allied headquarters.

It was suggested that Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may have suggested that Darlan might desire to transfer his sympathies to the Allied side.

MAKE UP MIND

If Darlan is in American hands at Algiers, he may have been given time to make up his mind. That would be a lucky break for the lack of news on his whereabouts.

Should Darlan join the Allies, the other Vichy radio would be forced to make up their minds. French fleet not to offer resistance to the Americans and British. However, in any event it was thought in London that the Allied fleet in the Mediterranean could handle any interference by the French navy.

Darlan in the past has been regarded as bitterly anti-British. However, it was said that recently there had been considerable difference of opinion as to where Darlan actually stood and it was known that he and Premier Pierre Laval entertained no affection for one another.

Victory Loan Sales Soar to $950,246,150

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Canada's third Victory Loan drive will see subscriptions totalling $950,246,150 during the three weeks' canvass which ended Saturday.

Subscriptions Saturday amounted to $102,250, well above the daily average of slightly more than $50,000, and were maintained throughout the campaign.

Headquarters said there are still some returns to come through the processing of reporting, and a further amount would probably be made on Wednesday.

The total was more than $200,000 in excess of the minimum.

EXCLUSIVE

Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps is disintegrating, today enhanced prospects for Allied re-establishment of Mediterranean control by the Allies in addition to long-range offensive progress against the Axis European fortress.

Re-opening of the British Empire supply route through the Suez Canal would free a tremendous amount of Allied shipping. Moreover, the new-obtained Allied bases are expected to facilitate the war against the submarines from the West African coast.

The offensive also might reach an important part of the French fleet in African ports or at least remove the possibility that the ships will be turned over to the Axis.

Relieves Problem

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(BUP)—The offensive also might reach an important part of the French fleet in African ports or at least remove the possibility that the ships will be turned over to the Axis.

For instance, ships travelling between Britain and the South Pacific via the Mediterranean-Red Sea short cut eliminate about 8,000 miles from the voyage as compared with the route around the Cape of Good Hope—a month-long difference in time, in effect adding shipping tonnage to the supply routes.

Allied possession of bases on the North African coast as well as places as Bizerte on the tip of Tunisia would nullify the Axis bases at Sardinia and Sicily.

It was presumed here that Hitler will order Vichy to scuttle the threatened French fleet units but efforts to carry out such an order might be only half-hearted.

The units include the battleship Jean Bart and several cruisers at Casablanca, and the battleship Richelieu, several cruisers and about a dozen submarines at Dakar.

FACE HARD FIGHT

The Allies still face the possibility of hard fighting, especially at Algiers. However, the importance will be diminished vastly if it is isolated from the rest of the fleet.

It was estimated that there are at least 25 Vichy ships in Algerian harbours and Algeria at intervals of about 150 miles which will come into Allied possession with little difficulty. These bases will enable long-range fighters and bombers to operate against Italian bases, support Malta and protect Mediterranean shipping.

The status of French naval units interned at Alexandria presumably remain unchanged for the moment. It is important to realize, however, that while the British and Allied at last are on the offensive in the European theatre this move is only the start of the long road to victory.

The Axis ability to strike back will not be underestimated. But this offensive is the fruit of careful and considered planning by the United Nations to encircle the Axis European fortress and make Adolf Hitler a prisoner in a steel-trap, hungry, restless and hampered or harassed on every side and subject to bombings and guerrilla gauds.

Passports Are Handed Vichy Envoy to U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Vichy French Ambassador's passports were handed to him this afternoon, thus making formal and complete the break in relations with the United States.

Before this action, State Secretary Cordell Hull had disclosed at a press conference that the United States was taking into protective custody all Vichy French ships in this country's ports.

The Maritime Commission reported it knows of only two or three Vichy ships in American harbours, such as New Orleans. Maritime officials identified two as the Aldebaran and the De la Re.

The state department did not wait for the ambassador, Gaston Henry-Haye, to call for his passports, but had them delivered to the embassy by George T. Sumner, chief of the Division of Protocol.

Henry-Haye was not in when Sumner arrived, but drove up to the embassy entrance a moment later in his car, accompanied by two door and shock hands in farewell.

It took only a few minutes for the formality of handing over the passports, after which the ambassador escorted Sumner to the door and shook hands in farewell.

Africa Attack "Electrifies" United States

By J. F. SANDOZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(CP)

—The United Nations are on the move, the long dismal period of inactivity is over and the day of the offense is breaking.

That is the general interpretation being placed in Washington on the electrifying news that the United States forces have landed in French North Africa to clear the Axis from the strategic cradle of the Mediteranean in conjunction with Lt. Gen.

L. Montgomery British 8th Army

now chasing the broken and disordered remnants of Marshal Romel westward across the hot sands of Libya.

WASHINGTON ELATED

Washington has been like a school girl attending her first dinner ever since the White House put out the news Saturday night that the Allies finally had broken the Axis to the punch and were seizing the French North African colonies to save them from falling under Nazi domination. If a national capital can be taken, the war, then Washington has been in a mood promptly to make a move of the initiative on a wide scale.

While battle news remained fragmentary and it was still not clear how much rest might be expected, the French general in North Africa was putting up one or two general conclusions were reached here:

1.—It is not a second front in the strictest sense of the phrase but only a necessary contribution to the grand opening of a second front.

2.—The primary purpose is to draw Axis forces away from the African front. The French are opposed to the Axis in the Mediteranean. The Mediterranean is the key to the world. The world, short of acting as a bridge on Allied plans for the world, by cutting down sea-miles.

MAY ATTACK ITALY

3.—It may lead to grandiose attacks on Italy, the heart of the Axis, which has been in a position of utter and complete collapse since the Egyptian campaign turned sour for Rommel.

4.—With the Germans and Italians expelled from North Africa and the Mediterranean again under

Allied control, the United Nations would be in a position to render direct assistance to the hard-pressed Russians, particularly in the exhaustion of supplies and in the diversion of Axis strength to the central and western parts of Europe.

5.—It may lead to drastic constitutional changes in Vichy, perhaps the whole of France, and in installing direct control over what has been the uncaptured zone.

There was little doubt here that the Allied offensive in Africa, from North Africa, would be the key to develop into one of the turning-points of the war because of the wide range of strategic possibilities it opened.

It was announced in Vichy that diplomatic relations with the United States had been ruptured, and that the United States had expressed its profound concern here.

It had been regarded almost as a foregone conclusion.

ON MOVE AT LAST

"At last we are on the move,"

Wendell Wilkie said in answer to a request for comment on the campaign.

Wilkie returned a few weeks ago from a round-the-world tour of the fighting zones and has been visiting a second tour of the Russia.

"I hope now that with our forces will begin to move on to the soft spots of southern Europe that we will be able to simultaneously and vigorously attack on other parts of the European continent. Thus the failure and hard pressed Russians can be aided and thus we can begin to win this war."

Not at War With France Says Premier

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in a prepared statement last night, declared that even if United Nations forces meet resistance from French forces in North Africa, "in no circumstances can that mean that we are at war against the French state."

Mr. King referred to the existing diplomatic relations between Canada and the Vichy government and said that this policy had been maintained in Canada as it has in the United States.

But the prime minister did not give any direct indication of the future policy regarding continued relations with the Vichy govern-

Mr. King said it was "no secret" that the British government, having broken diplomatic relations with Vichy, "attacked no less important than our own to the maintenance of Canada's relations with Vichy which have proved of value to the Allied cause in many ways."

He referred to the statement in Washington yesterday by Cordell Hull, secretary of state, on the question of relations with Vichy.

Mr. King said that "in this matter Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom have been following a concerted policy of common objectives."

LIBERATE FRANCE

Mr. King has indicated, this policy has been directed toward ultimately liberating France from her German captives.

Our faith in the integrity of purpose of the United Nations has been sustained by the thousands of fighting French who have never ceased to fight on at our side.

He warned against any misunderstanding of the French resistance might develop in North Africa as a result of the fact that there is no military resistance to German resistance," he said.

"The French leaders who appear at its head will be the tools or puppets of Germans in the background," said Mr. King.

"In spirit France has always been of the company of the United Nations," said Mr. King.

BOUND MORE CLOSELY

"The ties of kinship bind France more closely to Canada than to any other of the United Nations."

We have, therefore, in this crisis hour, a special duty to do all in our power to make known to the French people the true attitude and the real purpose of operations which have now been undertaken."

Mr. King said that "the French people have been deceived by the German propaganda machine and by the Englishmen who have escaped from France."

"It is our mission to remove all doubt from the minds of the French people that we are no less eager to help them and to help them soon to win back the liberty which was never seemed so precious as since it was lost."

He warned Canadians to beware of an expected "deluge of propaganda from the Vichy radio," and said no one should be deceived by a "deluge of propaganda."

"Rather should we keep our ears attuned to the authentic voice of the French people, the voice of humanity, of civilization."

IS CONFIDENT Hitler Plans Counter-Blows For Attack in North Africa

MUNICH (from German broadcasts), Nov. 8.—(AP)—Declaring his confidence in ultimate German victory, Adolf Hitler asserted last night that American landings in North Africa will no more win the war than the British landings in France early in the conflict.

"When Roosevelt launches an attack against North Africa we need not waste words about his lies," Hitler said. "We will prepare all counter-blows, as thoroughly as always, and they will come in due time."

"There was a triumphant shouting when the first British troops landed at Boulogne and advanced, and six months later this triumphant shouting was over. It turned out to be different. It will be different again in this case."

ADDRESSES OLD GUARD

Addressing his Nazi party old guard at the Loewenbau beer cellar on the eve of the anniversary of the Munich pact of 1923, Hitler said that if the fight which National Socialism won then had not been successful, then "the present might not have succeeded."

"At that time I was convinced that victory must and would be ours," he said.

"I am not a coincidence," he added. "I am a man who has seen the same conviction that I stand here today."

"Today, with greedy eyes on that empire which France so laboriously built up, Germany and Italy are proposing to invade and occupy French North Africa in order to carry out their schemes of domination and conquest over the whole of that continent."

I know you will realize that such a conquest of Africa would not be a success for Germany and Italy to the conquest of large portions of the American hemisphere, large dominations of the Near and Middle East, and a joining of hands in the Far East with those military leaders of Japan who seek to dominate the whole Pacific."

GRAVE MENACE

It is evident, of course, that an invasion and occupation of French North and West Africa would constitute a grave menace to the security of the United States and the American republics.

Our faith in the integrity of purpose of the United Nations has been sustained by the thousands of fighting French who have never ceased to fight on at our side.

He warned against any misunderstanding of the French resistance might develop in North Africa as a result of the fact that there is no military resistance to German resistance," he said.

Gen. DeGaulle Calls on French To Join Battle Believed Sunk Jap Cruiser in Solomons

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(CP)—Exhorting Frenchmen of North Africa to throw their support to the American occupation forces, Gen. Charles de Gaulle sent out this call last night. "Forward, the great moment has arrived."

The fighting French leader broadcast his stirring appeal as the first of a series of broadcasts from North Africa, where Gen. Henri Giraud, who escaped the Germans in this and the First Great War, was reported as having sent out this call last night.

Further, our Russian allies have definitely broken the supreme offensive of the enemy on the Volga and in the Caucasus and penetrated into Circassia.

Finally, the French people, the proper time to arise as one man.

"French comrades, soldiers, sailors, airmen, join me in this appeal. French, everyone of you."

"Help our allies. Join them with our resolve. France values its allies as you value them. The enemy gains and wavers."

"Frenchmen of North Africa, I know you will return to the battle with us from one end of the Mediterranean to the other the way we will be won. Thanks to France."

Win Vichy of the kind of revolt had flared in Morocco. The Axis watched the possibility that the French forces may be somewhere deep in the heart of Africa ready to join the Allied Nations in the North African clean-up campaign.

The situation, breaking out simultaneously with the American landings, were seen here as the carefully executed underground work of the legendary Gen. Giraud.

APPEAL BROADCAST

A voice identified as that of Gen. Giraud broadcast an appeal to Frenchmen in the Algerian radio wave length Saturday night to neglect "the opportunity of recovery" of the Algerian people.

A high British official source said that the Algerian people, authentic, despite Vichy assertion that it was a "hoax."

French sources agreed that the French general had designated himself co-commander-in-chief of the French North African colonial army and that he "definitely is in Algeria."

Reuter's agency said the general broadcast, directly from Algiers, the French Moroccan port which Vichy acknowledged late today had been penetrated by the Axis.

That afternoon American planes attacked enemy surface ships about 100 miles north of Guadalcanal, badly damaging a light cruiser and one of 10 destroyers.

The navy said the cruiser possibly was sunk, and that the enemy also lost 12 planes which attempted to intercept the attacking American aircraft. However, four of the American planes failed to return.

Along with a group of 11 other youths from Giebe Collegiate and Ottawa Tech he signed up for aircrew in a mass invasion of the recruiting centre—while "playing hooky" from classes. ## CHAPTER XIX

AS Mom Miller had expected it would be the luncheon for the two cadets in her home turned out happily. Indeed, it is impossible to damage a soldier's morale with a friendly home-cooked meal. Norman Pina left the table literally pounding his chest. "Let me at 'em!" he boomed. "In the air or on the ground!"

"Mom's propaganda has to do with on-the-ground wrapping first," Blythe reminded them. "And the first of battle is a football field."

"Mom Miller," Norman pinched Mom's cheek. "For you I'll make a personal touchdown. What about it, Hogan?"

"Shake," said Duane. "That's the mood they were in. Mom was starry-eyed with pleasure, and Pop himself beamed at his two talented 'kids.' Blythe couldn't keep from covertly watching Nancy Hale. Blythe's own smile was of surface depth only. Inside, she felt darkness like an impending doom.

When Norman, Duane, Nancy and little Scooter were leaving Blythe stole a moment alone in her room. "I've got to manage somehow not to upset things," she reasoned, frantically. "Until . . . until I can think what to do!"

"Think what to do? That was the problem which weighed on her. She had overheard Nancy agree to drug the two players, but she had not been able to work out a suitable compromise. She had simply procrastinated, lying miserably from within, in the wretched little-child feeling that something good would probably turn up to solve the problem for her.

Mom and baby Scooter left the Miller home first. Pop had orders to lie down and rest an hour, and Nancy would go on back to care for his office where there was a lot of going and coming here in the week of the Sten U. game. Then Norman left; he had two hours of flying duty before he could report back for the last football workout. Blythe overheard him departing. She was about to decide on going with Nancy when she heard Duane speak.

"If you aren't going to sleep, Pop, I'll be awfully gentle," said Blythe. "I can't sit with you? I'm on leave, you know."

"I'll be tickled, son. Sleep is for babies."

"Yes, sir," Duane said. "That Nancy! Tink-tink-tink! Mom clucked her tongue in benign blame. 'If she ain't the darlinest thing!'"

"Yes, mam," Duane agreed courteously. "Duane, I wonder if you hear how much you mean to her?"

"Mam?"

Pop was fingering his hair fringe and beaming happily. "What she means, son, is that Nancy needed a sort of big brother that night of the wreck, and you happened to be the one. You'll have to excuse the old man for preaching, but it'll never do any harm to show unforgotten people a favor that way. You understand?"

"Yes, sir. I was glad to help what little I could. But I wasn't just me. It was all of us. You folks, that's all. And the team."

"She thinks most of us, Duane," said Mom.

"Well, I appreciate that, but it's not."

"I tell you what, Duane," Pop was stretched out comfortably on the big sofa now, and jabbing his finger at the younger man. "If it was some of you young buckos, he'd figure if I wouldn't be looking at Nancy!"

Blythe held up her hands and laughed. "For goodness' sake, what do you think they are doing?" she demanded. "Norman was even eying her right out in the open, here today!"

"For no reason—no reason at all that Blythe could see—all three of the others turned and looked at her. And so she hadn't said a word. Their looks were open, frank, quizzical, until all at once they became self-conscious."

"A-humbug, humbug!" Pop put on a very poor act of coughing. He didn't have a cough, and the transparency of it simply made the little matter worse. To her own consternation, Blythe felt herself blushing. She, Blythe Miller, sophisticated, sophisticated, hot on the neck like a Lizzy-Lane somebody from away out on R. F. D.

"She tore off all the pretense. 'Listen, you folks,' Blythe said, smiling unconsciously. 'Don't look at me! Of course Norman was eyeing Nancy! Why shouldn't he? She's a very pretty girl. And Norman certainly isn't the least bit reticent. You ought to know, honey!'"

Pop said that and thought it awfully funny, from the way he laughed. Mother Miller beamed, and Duane had a rather silly kind of grin, too. He said Blythe herself, what a naive, folksy, simple-minded bunch they are!

And then—contradicting her own self—she suddenly loved them for it all at once she knew she wouldn't; all at once she knew she wouldn't have those good people any other way! Sophisticated! Modern! Kind and pretending they aren't any more. The warmth on her neck was gone again, and Blythe had an odd desire to hug all of them, hug them and kiss them then and there.

Mom was making small talk again, going toward the kitchen to start the dishes, and Blythe would have followed but Duane motioned her to stay. When Mom was away, he softly closed the living room door. All at once then he was serious.

"Pop—Coach," he said, "I have been talking to Bly."

Both Pop and Bly looked at him in surprise. Duane was unconsciously flexing his arm muscles, flat he declared.

"Yes, sir," he nodded. "And I wanted to tell you, I don't know what the score is, but you can count on me. I'm not too smart at figuring things out, but if there's a job of work at hand—I've passed a bit lamely, appealing silently to you."

"I ought to say, Pop," he put in, "that the pistol I brought you from the Coast Guard, as you asked, is Duane's. I didn't think any of the Lincoln Field of officers if I wouldn't be looking to get suspicious of anything. Until you are—until we—"

"Yes, sir," Duane nodded. "And whatever needs to be done, I wish we'd let me do it for you. Fists or gun."

It was a tender moment, and Pop beamed that offer of friendship with a long silence. He was deeply touched.

All at once Blythe realized that this was the moment to let what he knew, too. To tell that Nancy Hale had agreed to turn traitor for a thousand dollars.

The American Contract Bridge League has decided to go ahead with the fall season of the national championship tournament, which will be held at the Hotel Onondaga, Syracuse, N.Y., the week beginning Nov. 30. This decision was reached because of the League's War Orphan Scholarship activity. Through this movement, the bridge players of the country hope to raise $15,000,000 for the education of the children of our service men killed in action.

Three City Churches Observe Special Anniversary Services

Sunday morning was observed by anniversary services in three of Edmonton's oldest churches. Guest ministers took part in each, many former members of the congregations returned, and special features were planned for the events.

More of a friendly talk with his former congregation than a sermon was the message brought to members of Knox United Church by Dr. Andrew D. Reid of Montreal.

Dr. Reid, who was minister here from 1921 to 1925, spoke on the occasion of the 21st anniversary of the church, and only three seats remained unfilled at this special service.

When we are separated from our loved ones, as many of us now are, we must remember that God is always with them," he said. He related to the congregation incidents of his days as a chaplain in the World War.

AT MCDUGALL'S
At McDugall United church, one of the most historic in the city, guests minister for the 1st anniversary was the Rev. Andrew Rodd, of First United church in Vancouver.

Mr. Rodd's message concerned the importance of building good foundations in lives as well as in structures. Bad foundations, he said, cause buildings to crumble just as bad contacts will cause lives to deteriorate.

Kathleen MacKay and Mr. Malcolm A. MacLeod were soloists and the service was concluded with "Hallelujah" choros from "The Messiah."

A jubilee program marked the 50th anniversary of the First Baptist church. The congregation has observed this year with particular emphasis in each month, climaxed by the service Sunday morning.

The Rev. Dr. J. B. MacLaurin, general secretary of the Canadian Baptist foreign mission board, was guest minister, and he was assisted by the Rev. W. C. Smalley, general secretary of the Baptist Union of Western Canada. The services were conducted by the minister, the Rev. Daniel Young.

Dr. MacLaurin, the son of a pioneer missionary, served for more years in India. He was appointed to his present position four years ago, and is well-known for his work in India, Africa, and Canada.

1,200 at Rally Pay Tribute To Russia's Gallant Stand

Tributes in various forms were paid to Soviet Russia at a rally held at the Rialto Theatre Sunday night, in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Soviet Union.

More than 1,200 persons attended to fill the theatre to capacity.

Speakers representing city organizations, trade unions, cultural organizations and the Canadian Mills paid their tribute to the gallant ally and the program was further supplemented with a reading of two letters, several musical and vocal selections, and folk dancing.

The rally was sponsored by the United Nations Friendship Committee under the auspices of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Red Cross.

A collection was taken during the rally and the proceeds turned over to the Red Cross.

TELEGRAMS READ
Ald. H. D. Anley was chairman of the meeting. The chairman read a series of telegrams including several from various local organizations to the Soviet Union.

A message was also sent to Lt. Gen. R. L. Montgomery, commander of the Eighth Army in North Africa.

Li Col. E. Brown, M.M. E.D. army commandant, addressed the large audience, stating that every body has great admiration for the great stand being made by the Russians.

"It has been proven to our entire satisfaction now that when a man has a definite stake in his country he will fight for it," Col. Brown stated.

He stated further that when the history of the war will be written, credit for winning the war will be due largely to the great stand of the Russians.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes, noted dramatic authority, gave two readings of salutes to the Soviet Union written by Mr. George Hunter and one by Mrs. George Pharis Ringwood, well known Edmonton playwright who was winner of the all-American award for a one-act play this year.

Following the readings the concerting stand while the Russian national anthem was played.

ALD. SIDNEY FARRAR, president of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, paid tribute to the Soviet Union by stating that Canada has been able to stand firm and strong for her strength and glory for their feats of valor.

UNBROKEN THANKS
There are unbroken thanks for her stand and what she has done, and more thanks for what she will continue to do, he stated.

James MacPherson, secretary of the Edmonton Commonwealth-Trial War Committee, stated that the real salute to the Soviet Union was what had transpired in the past two days—firstly the substantial over-subscription of Canada's Third Victory Loan and secondly, the Allied offensive in North Africa.

He turned the British-Soviet-American pact and the United Nations Alliance as the "greatest triumphs in recent world history."

"Millions of people throughout the world will also record their admiration of the great social achievements of the Soviet people since the formation of their socialist country 25 years ago," Mr. MacPherson stated.

"Today we witness with awe and admiration the untiring devotion of the people of Stalingrad," he said. "No freer Stalingrad was ever paid to the Soviet than when General Haysmold said of the heroic Canadians who stormed Dnepropetrovsk, they fought like Russians," he added.

Dr. C. D. Willis, president of the United Nations Friendship Committee, paid tribute to the other Allied nations as well, making a special mention of the Chinese for their gallant stand over many months "without anything but determination" and the British for saving the situation by winning the Battle of Britain and successfully waging the Battle of the Atlantic.

ROPER SPEAKS
Kimer E. Roper, M.L.A., outlined briefly the work of the Red Cross for the Soviet and Allied forces.

In his reference to Russia Mr. Roper stated that the Soviet has proved to the world that national unity is essential if victory is to be achieved.

"That is just what Canada is failing to do at present. There must be progress here along the

Trustees Will Seek Solution To Pay Problem

The question of teacher salaries, using the situation in the Vegreville division as a criterion, is expected to feature the annual meeting of the Alberta School Trustees' Association, scheduled to commence at the Macdonald Hotel, Edmonton, Sunday.

The convention will last for three days with the general sessions to be held all day Sunday, Thursday forenoon and Friday afternoon.

At 3:30 p.m. Thursday the delegates will divide into the urban section and the education section. They will continue Friday morning.

The association executive will meet all day Tuesday and registration of delegates will commence at noon on the same day.

R. Henning, Fort Saskatchewan representative of the Alberta School Trustees' Association, will preside over the rural divisions, and W. A. Church, Medicine Hat, will preside at the urban section meetings.

Canada while a single privately-owned automobile, not used for essential service, is still permitted to operate.

If the situation in regard to gas and rubber is as serious as the recent bus travel order suggests, and are not met, it is not that serious, then surely a general order stopping operation of the privately-owned autos not used for essential services, should also be issued.

People at the bus terminals are not allowed to leave their cars for money for taxis unless their business is urgent or they have a long way to go home after their car service has stopped for the night.

With passenger jammed to such an extent that travel returning is being seriously considered by the railways, limiting his travel to 50 miles in a continuous run is certain to add to the woes of the railways at this time.

And yet hundreds of thousands of cars are still used for pleasure purposes.

It seems to us that a general re-orientation of the functions performed by all privately-operated automobiles in Canada should be made before crushing restrictions are placed upon companies engaged in legitimate public transport.

We think an examination would make it possible such an increase in gasoline and tires that public transport systems could even increase their services and relieve the growing problem of congestion.

Canadians are more than willing that the government should "teach" about every aspect of the general winning of this war to be logical before it has got to be accepted with wholehearted support.

There seems to be a need for a first thing first policy by government officials in the question of restrictions on gasoline and rubber.

Dies From Seizure
John V. Klig, 41, occupant of a room in a city rooming house since his return from Alaska Highway work Oct. 31, was found dead on the bed in his room by police prior Friday, it was reported by the city detective department.

Dr. A. B. Hatcher, chief provincial coroner, stated that an inquest is unnecessary as death was caused by a heart seizure.

lines which have saved Russia," he stated.

He then spoke of the numerous Canadians to local national unity in Canada because of the "quintessential" character interests and individuals over price," at the expense of war effort.
